Pair Protest City Council Taxi Cab Ban

Reuben Franks and J. B. Bettencourt, operators of Redwood Cab Co., Tuesday protested the city council's ban on additional taxi cab permits in Redwood City as unfair discrimination against small operators.

"We need at least two cabs to make a living," Franks declared. "My partner is a war veteran and is entitled to consideration. We have many calls we cannot handle, yet the city refuses to permit us to use our second car."

City Mgr. E. W. Blom defended the city's action as desirable regulation.

He pointed out that if too many cabs operate in the city, none may prosper.

Asked if the city contended that it had a right to restrict all business enterprise to assure profitable operation, Blom replied that taxi cabs constituted a special class of enterprise since they travel over public streets and use public areas in which to park.

The city manager said there are 26 cab permits in the city now, with 10 applications on file. A new firm has made inquiry for 10 to 12 additional permits. Hereafter, the city will follow railroad commission procedure and require a certificate

Automobile Burns After Overturning

Woodside firemen were called to the scene of an automobile accident on Los Trancos Rd. shortly after 6 o'clock Sunday night where the car, lying upside down in the creek, evidently short-circuited and caught fire, igniting nearby bridge timbers.

The car, driven by 16-year-old Josie May Ronnan of Ramona Rd., Los Trancos Woods, overturned into the creek yesterday morning at 7:30 o'clock, California Highway Patrolmen reported yesterday.

Woodside Fire Chief John Volpiano said the car was a total loss from fire damage.

of convenience and necessity for cab permits, Blom declared, although the basis has not been determined.

"Rates will be fixed," Blom promised. "We will probably insist on metered rates."

Franks, meanwhile, said that while there are 26 permits for taxis, only 14 cars are operating. He claimed Luxor Cab Co. has 7 permits, 4 cars; Sequoia Cab, 7 permits and 4 cars, and his own company 1 permit, 2 cars and one of these idle because the city refuses a permit.

"This is discrimination between the large and the small," he charged.

San Carlos Building Spurt Swamps Inspector's Office

With reports that controls over building materials will be reinstituted, San Carlos building inspector's office is experiencing an unprecedented rush for permits, Bldg. Insp. O. W. Stewart said Tuesday.

Sixteen building permits for $201,000 were issued in San Carlos from Saturday morning to Tuesday.

Asked at a news conference what was holding up the president's promised announcement respecting plans to set aside materials for home building, Press Secy. Charles G. Ross told reporters:

"I expect the President will have some sort of statement on that at his press conference tomorrow."

Meanwhile in Redwood City, Bldg. Insp. L. M. Duncan reported there has been no rush here. His office has issued 14 permits this month totaling $108,000, which is average, Duncan said.

Among the permits taken out in San Carlos was one for $25,000 by W. A. Gould for Butler Bros. This is for the erection of a Ben Franklin Store in the first block on El Camino Real and is a lot 50 x 100 feet. This particular construction has been under discussion for some while at both planning commission and council meetings because of the amount of feet asked of the owners for an alleyway in the rear. It was reported they would give 5 feet but not 10, and if that were required they would build elsewhere.

Another $25,000 C class building permit was issued to Peter Sorenson in the White Oaks district. A Denelek took out a $12,000 permit for a building on El Camino Real and Orvil Larsen a $5,000 permit for an office building on the highway.

Walter Gineste secured a permit for a $15,000 building on San Carlos Ave. on a lot 25x100 which it is reported will be a dry goods store. Another permit for a large building to the amount of $22,000 was issued to be constructed in the first block on Laurel St., south of San Carlos Ave.

A permit was taken out by Gould for a building to the amount of $30,000 to be built by Larry Whitteerow at 900 Laurel St. These lots were under discussion recently when they were rezoned from second residential to business. At the time the owner had already built a culvert which he said made it prohibitive because of cost to use as residential lots. He specified at the time he expected to build a store with living quarters above and assured the neighboring residence owners he would not put up anything objectionable. The build-

Casanova Accepts Bronco Grid Post

Leonard Casanova, former head coach at Sequoia Union High School, will return to Santa Clara University as assistant football coach, he announced Monday. Casanova, recently promoted to commander, is on terminal leave from the navy and expects to return to his Redwood City home at 92 Turnworth within a week or 10 days.

Commander Casanova has been in the navy since 1942. He took his indoctrination course at Annapolis and was first stationed at Corpus Christi, Texas. His next assignment was at Bremerton, Wash., training crews for escort carriers. Most recently he has been assigned to the staff of the admiral in command of fleet air, West coast, in charge of survival training.

Commander and Mrs. Casanova and their two children plan to spend the next week or 10 days with his family at Ferndale before returning to their permanent residence here.

Peninsula 'Hot' County Realtors Told

The Peninsula was Tuesday night described as the hottest real estate expansion area in California during the annual banquet and election of officers of the South San Mateo County Dist. Realty Board at Grace and Pierre's.

Frank Nye, member of the state real estate board, who addressed nearly 100 members and guests at the dinner, explained the amendments to the real estate act and warned all realtors that a crack-down has been made necessary because of the thousands of additional real estate agents now operating in California.

He also praised those in the business for the highly respected place they have earned through their honest dealings with the public, but he warned of "curb-stone" salesmen, and others like them, that were proving injurious to the profession.

Frank A. DePatta, Redwood City realtor, was elected president of the organization for the coming year, and Harold McGee was named vice president. Ed Mellon of Menlo Park was unanimously chosen to replace Teddy Lauman as secretary. Lauman, who has held the post for eight years, was presented with a gold fountain pen.

Henry Witte reported on real estate activities throughout the state and explained that the board has sold $139,400 in war bonds during the Victory Loan drive. The realtors accepted unanimously a recommendation by Harry Hoefler that the name of the board be changed so as to include all communities from Belmont to the south San Mateo County border.

Canada Rd. Site Sells for $35,000

Sale of 100 acres along Canada Rd., a mile north of Woodside junction, adjoining Spring Valley on the north and the Flood estate on the west, was recorded here Tuesday for $35,000.

Purchaser of the Bates estate property was listed as Blanche Samuels, "a widow." The property, part of the old Canada de Raymondo Ranch, was purchased presumably for "investment," the Tribune learned. It was indicated that subdivision or other parcelling of the acreage might be announced within the next six months.

1 1/2 Million Building Program for Schools Studied at Meeting

BY H. JUNE ANDERSON

Pressing need of $1,607,640 for enlarging present plants and the building of three new schools in the near future by the Redwood City Elementary School District was disclosed Monday night by Supt. Andrew Spinas in a public meeting at the McKinley School.

Trustees proposed that the huge 10-year building program be financed by a bond issue of perhaps $500,000 and a tax rate limit increase of from 90 cents per $100 of assessed valuation to $1.50, Trustee C. G. Uhlenberg stated.

The vital issue will be put up to the voters in a special election to be held in February or March with crystallized plans for a complete survey of the issues involved ready for presentation to the public within several weeks, Spinas said.

"The voters must realize that this is not a sudden decision of a board which has had no experience with such tasks. The school architectural firm of Ernest J. Kump has been hired to make a complete survey of the district building needs. In the meantime, urgent additions to alleviate crowded conditions are getting underway," Spinas said.

Included in the trustees' 10-point program which will need $1,607,640 to complete is the building of two new schools to replace the Central School which has been sold. Spinas said plans will soon be started for the erection of a grammar school at Charter and Stambaugh Sts. on a site which the school district now owns. By acquiring adjacent land, this site could accommodate a school of 17 classrooms with auditorium, lunch room and other auxiliary rooms, Spinas pointed out. The school would not be completed immediately but additional units would be erected as the population increases, he said.

At Alden and Warren Sts., the district owns one block which would be used for a school site to care for youngsters who now attend the Central School and live east of the railroad and north of Broadway. The site would only accommodate five classrooms and enrollment would be limited to about 175 pupils.

Third school which trustees hope to build reasonably soon is the one on the six-acre district site in Friendly Acres on Bay Rd. between 8th and 10th Aves. Spinas showed that a subdivision of 200 homes is being planned in this area. He said that the building of new classrooms and a kindergarten and a suitable auditorium.

Remaining items on the 10-point program are:

1. Acquisition of five additional school sites while real estate can still be obtained in large enough plots. These sites would be for future use and should be from eight to 10 acres in area. Desirable locations are on Stockbridge Ave. in Atherton between Selby Ln. and El Camino Real; at Palomar Park, at Santa Clara Ave. and Woodside Rd. and two sites in the Emerald Lake district, trustees declared.

2. The building of an administrative unit to house the elementary school superintendent and serve as an office for the board of trustees, supervisors, business personnel and faculty committee meetings. In addition the unit would have a warehouse for the storage of school supplies.

3. An auditorium at the Garfield School with a capacity of 500 seats and a cafeteria so that an adequate lunch program may be given.

4. At least four classrooms added to the John Gill School and a lunch room to feed 150 children.

5. Three new classrooms at the Lincoln School. Bids will be advertised next month. Also an enlarged lunch room is needed and main building which was built in 1916 is in need of extensive repairs such as new heating units, new and increased toilet facilities.

6. At McKinley School, a manual arts and trade building, a home-making building, a gymnasium and a cafeteria equipped to feed 400 children a day are needed. Also an extensive maintenance job, inside trim repainted, 15 classroom floor refinishing.

7. Construction of a four-classroom addition to the Washington School is scheduled to begin next week. A lunch room is also needed.

8. Three other San Mateo County Communities have successfully used the pay-as-you-go school tax plan of increasing the tax limit. Spinas disclosed. They are San Carlos, Ravenswood and San Bruno.

One woman in the audience of some 50 persons, mostly parents and school personnel, asked why the tax rate "should be upped so high so suddenly? It scares people," she exclaimed.

Spinas replied that "the program was a huge one, that it stretched over at least 10 years and that it would take a lot of money to fulfill the project."

At this point, Mrs. Roy Cloud stated that "we've spent billions on the war, why should anyone object to paying a million for a school program for our youngsters. After all they're what we fought the war for."

Asked why a junior high school wasn't built in Redwood City, Spinas replied that a junior high school would involve a legal question. The Sequoia Union High School District is composed of a number of elementary districts and a complete realignment of the districts involved would have to be made under state law to create a junior high school, Spinas pointed out.

The superintendent also offered the public last night a tentative list of curriculum changes he would like to see inaugurated at the schools as soon as facilities are available.

They include manual training and homemaking courses for McKinley seventh and eighth graders, more emphasis on health education, a school lunch program, drama and speech correction, extension of the school day for pupils interested in extra-curricular subjects, schools used more as community centers by the public, school run 12 months in the year with a vast recreational program in the Summer, rooms for such organizations as the Boy and Girl Scouts to meet, and finally, combination auditorium-gymnasiums for use in rainy weather as playrooms or for programs and perhaps dancing by such organizations as the Parent-Teachers Assn.

Spinas' curriculum program met with instant approval by the parents present Monday night and several suggested that changes be instituted as soon as possible. The superintendent said building facilities would have to be made available first.

Uhlenberg presided at the special session in the absence of John Poole, board chairman, who is ill. Also present was Trustee Louis Behrens.

Spinas broke down the estimated district financial needs as $265,500 for additions to McKinley; $401,300 for the new school at Stambaugh and Charter Sts.; $90,000 for the Alden and Warren Sts. School; $185,790 for the Washington School; $121,250 for the Lincoln School; $150,650 for the John Gill School; $150,650 for the Garfield School; $166,000 for the new school at Friendly Acres; $53,000 for the purchase of new sites and $24,000 for the new administrative building.

The meeting was adjourned after Mrs. S. S. Mayo moved that the entire program be approved by those present. W. H. Morrissey seconded the motion which carried unanimously.

Nab Six Negroes In R.C. Dice Raid

Six Negroes, arrested in an early morning raid at a Five Peas restaurant, Tuesday morning pleaded guilty to gambling charges and were sentenced to pay fines of $100 or spend 20 days in jail.

Judge Edward I. McAuliffe ordered suspension of all but $10 for five of the defendants, but Floyd E. Coates, 53, operator of the Two Friends Cafe where the Negroes were taken into custody, was ordered to pay the full fine or serve a jail sentence.

The six men were taken into custody by Officers William Faulstich, Ted Moudakas and Dana R. Morgan when the policemen went to investigate a light in a rear room at 1 a. m.

The raiding officers seized approximately $10 in cash and a pair of dice as evidence.

In addition to Coates, those taken into custody were:

Eugene Profit, 24, laborer, of 135 Willow St., Redwood City, who was also booked on a battery charge by police who had a year-old warrant to serve on him when he identified himself at the police station;

Charles McNary, 44, 238 Hemlock St., Redwood City, who gave his occupation as a businessman; Elvie Stanford, 30, of 186 Julian St., San Jose, who said he was a restaurateur; Willie Holt, 32, a farmer, of 611 Villa St., Mountain View; Hayden Doster, 20, cook, of 681 Ramona St., Palo Alto.

Police said Profit was named defendant in a battery complaint signed here nearly a year ago, but that police had been unable to locate him in order to serve the warrant.

City Grants New Permits

Addition of 11 building permits Tuesday boosted the Redwood City total to $2,068,320. City Bldg. Insp. L. M. Duncan announced.

New permits were issued to Anita Wilson at 620 Jefferson Ave. for $500 in repairs; Ward Tucker for W. M. Gow, 221 Howland St., $6000 five-room house and garage; H. V. Cowan for J. Rosenstock, 511 Hudson St., $8000 five-room house and garage; Will C. Counter, 1441 El Camino Real, $200 garage porch; W. Lingg, 35 Laurel St., $250 garage addition; W. D. DeGiovanni, 251 D St., $600 one-room addition; Well P. Goodenough for Dr. Robert Ames, 945 Middlefield Rd., $8000 concrete block addition; A. D. Davis, 511 Spring St., $200 sun porch; Mrs. Maska Lampert, 1025 El Camino Real, $30,000 reinforced garage building; Frank Poirier, 910 Edgewood Rd., $18,843 eight-room dwelling and garage; Orrin Ridgely, 159 Bonita Ave., $1000 remodeling.

In the meantime, supplies of lard and shortening, never too plentiful since beginning of the war, have been cut by closing of some San Francisco producers because of the machinists' strike, and by using up of the quarterly allotments to refiners and producers from the government.

Sales manager of a large distributor in South San Francisco this morning predicted some improvement in the situation after the first of the year when the next quarterly allotment becomes available.

However, demand for bakery goods estimated at more than double that of the last peace year—coupled with increased use of cooking oils by restaurants, hotels and other large users, will not be filled, he said.

Charles Campbell, owner of the Enterprise Bakery here, Monday, termed the outlook "dark," and said he had not received deliveries of shortening for more than 10 days.

His bakery is now serving double the customers served before the Nov. 10 strike began, and the demand is greater, he said.

Unless a regular shipment arrives soon, he may be forced to close, he said.

At the Home Bake Shop, it was reported the shortage may cause curtailment of certain bakery products—namely doughnuts—by the end of the week unless supplies are augmented.

Wholesalers and distributors are spreading out the supply so as to give each a portion of available stocks, the sales manager said.

Shortages May Close Bakeries

A critical shortage of cooking oils and fats may force several local bakeries to close, while other face drastic curtailment in their output of bakery products, the Tribune learned Monday.

The independent bakeries have increased their outputs in order to help fill the bread baskets of more than 50 per cent of the population which relied upon San Francisco wholesalers before the Nov. 10 disruption of drivers and employers.

In the meantime, supplies of lard and shortening, never too plentiful since beginning of the war, have been cut by closing of some San Francisco producers because of the machinists' strike, and by using up of the quarterly allotments to refiners and producers from the government.

Menlo City Council Gets Plan To Restrict Nursery Building

The introduction of an ordinance to stop the establishment of any future commercial nurseries in the greenhouses in residential sections was the major item on the agenda of Tuesday night's meeting of the Menlo Park City Council.

Mayor Charles Burgess in commenting on the proposed legislation said that the nurseries and greenhouses already located in the residential zones will not be affected by the ordinance.

The council adopted the ordinance for annexation of the Martin-Domby tracts by the city of Menlo Park.

Roy Hodges, city health inspector, in a report on the Menlo Park Hotel, 552 Oak Grove Ave., recommended that the building be condemned.

He added, "after investigating the property with Bldg. Insp. Max Mielke we have decided that it is sub-standard and unfit for human habitation." The owners of the building have ordered the present occupants to move by Dec. 15, said Hodges.

Credit Sick Man With Halting Fire

Quick-wittedness of an ill householder Sunday saved possible destruction of his Woodside Highlands home by flames. Fire Chief John Volpiano of Woodside department disclosed today.

Volpiano said T. W. McElligatt, at 739 Coombsville Wy., smelled smoke fumes shortly before 8 o'clock last night, from his bedroom, where he lay ill with influenza. Investigating, while Mrs. McElligatt telephoned the Woodside firemen, McElligatt found the flames had mushroomed beneath the living room floor.

He crawled under the house flooring, with a garden hose, and succeeded in checking the flames until firemen were able to arrive and extinguish the blaze with chemicals, Volpiano said.

Volpiano estimated damage at about $200, and said the fire had been caused apparently by a defective fireplace. He said the house might have been destroyed had the flames gained headway before the firemen arrived.

Moran Telegraphs Anderson as Ships Seek to Unload Cargo

A telegram to Congressman Jack Z. Anderson of the House Naval Affairs Committee Monday was dispatched by Port Mgr. A. A. Moran who termed navy delay in returning the Port of Redwood City to civilian use "detrimental to the port's future operations."

Moran, whose telegram to the Eighth Congressional Dist. representative was augmented by one from the Tribune Tuesday morning, disclosed a ship loaded with 7000 tons of asphaltum was denied use of the port yesterday afternoon.

Only Monday morning a 2000 ton load of cement was directed to another port because the six weeks' idled facilities here are not yet available for civilian use.

In his telegram, Moran pointed out the port has negotiated a basis of settlement with Capt. E. E. Williams of the 12th Naval Dist. real estate division, covering rent to Dec. 1.

Captain Williams, who has recommended the settlement, forwarded the proposal to the bureau of yards and docks in Washington, D. C., about a month ago, but to date, no action has been forthcoming from the bureau, Moran stated.

"For the past six weeks, the port has had urgent demands for storage of canned goods in the warehouse and lumber for discharge by steamers for local consumption."

"Today we had a request to handle steamers with 2000 and 7000 tons respectively for discharge and unloading into car, but had to decline," he continued.

"Navy delay in releasing the port is most detrimental to the port's future operations as other bay ports are securing business which should move through Redwood City," he asserted.

Local Realtors Uncertain About Building Future

President Truman's order Wednesday directing reinstatement of the priority system on building materials and his request that residential property be placed under price control met with varied reaction among building men here.

Truman's actions, recommended by Reconstruction Director John W. Snyder, contemplated special preference to veterans in need of housing.

Teddy Lauman, Redwood City contractor and secretary of the newly named South San Mateo County District Board of Realtors (formerly Redwood City-San Carlos District Board of Realtors) declared he believed Truman's order would provide a "shot in the arm" for the small building business, such as residences, duplexes and apartment houses.

Truman's three-point program, calls for:

1. Speedy release of government-owned surplus housing units and building materials for use in housing veterans and their families.

2. A regulation, now being prepared for release before the middle of the month, establishing priorities on building materials.

The President said this regulation would establish priorities for multiple dwelling housing units costing $10,000 or less per unit.

He said this would mean "about 50 per cent of all building materials will be channeled into this type of building" with the balance available for commercial, industrial, higher priced dwelling and for other construction, public or private.

He said he was acting under the second War Powers Act.

3. Ceiling prices on old and new buildings, a field in which he said sharp prices had brought a threat of inflation which has been the most menacing in our economy.

"I think it will loosen up building," Lauman said of President Truman's order.

He said that 5, 6 or 7 small buildings could be constructed now in the place of one large building, thus helping to alleviate the housing shortage. Smaller homes should come first, he declared.

Lauman said that thousands of residences which were started last Spring still are unfinished. He said he believed the new order would make it possible for these homes to be completed.

The building of duplexes and apartment houses will provide the quickest relief to the housing situation, Lauman said.

L. M. Duncan, Redwood City building inspector, said he did not believe the President's order would have much effect on the building of residences here, but he, along with other men in the building trade, expressed the belief it would be a direct stab at the construction of commercial buildings.

Duncan said that he knew of several commercial buildings to cost from $20,000 to $30,000 which are in the planning stage here and which are hit by the new order.

Carl W. Yearling of San Carlos, president of the South San Mateo County District of Realtors, said he feared that priority on housing may cause inflation.

"If priority is based on building materials, it will slow down building and prices of older houses will remain high," he said.

"It is hard to say what effect it will have," he added.

Contractors appeared to be awaiting further developments before deciding upon the real significance of the President's order.

The President, adopting Snyder's recommendation as those of the administration, quoted Snyder as saying that credit agencies of the government "are working out ways to curb unsound lending practices."

Truman announced appointment of Wilson W. Wyatt, former mayor of Louisville, to be special housing expediter under the office of War Mobilization and Reconstruction.

When the housing matter came up at his weekly news conference, Mr. Truman said in response to questions that the administration planned to invoke price ceilings on old and new housing under the still operative War Powers Act, pending enactment of specific legislation on the subject.

After the conference, however, the White House issued a statement asserting the President's explanation was made under a misapprehension.

Legislation is necessary to fix price ceilings, the White House statement said.

"Legislation is not necessary for the establishment of priorities on building materials," it added, "and then priorities 'are being set up under the War Powers Act without legislation.'"

The President had been asked whether legislation would be necessary on price ceilings. He replied no, because this is under the War Powers Act.

Redwood City 'E' Bond Drive Falls Short as Campaign Ends

From all indications, Redwood City failed by a small margin to reach its $275,000 E bond Victory Loan campaign quota according to incomplete returns in Monday.

The Exchange Club reported sales $11,500 on the street Saturday, to be added to the club's previous sales of $12,750 in the queen contest to give the organization a bond sale credit of $24,250.

Redwood City Tribune carriers "poured it on" in their one-week clean-up campaign, and their total sales were $5800. The winners:

Ernest Sevier	$1600
Bruce Schott	1450
Richard Malone	850
William Gundred	600
William Payne	400
Charles Tracy	225
Mickey Kellieher	225
Robert Bos	150
Harold Daros	100
Dick Harris	100
Sam Peterson	75
William Anderson	25

E bond sales which cleared through the issuing agencies by noon Saturday totaled $6862.50. With additional sales from the Exchange Club, the carriers and individuals yet to be reported, plus certain E bond allocations, it was estimated that the city's E bond deficit would be between $15,000 and $20,000.

Court Approves Brandt Agreement

Amicable, out-of-court settlement of the divorce suit of Walter E. Brandt, wealthy Hillsborough-San Francisco insurance company executive, and his wife, Mrs. Lilyan H. Brandt, was approved Monday in superior court here.

The case, which opened dramatically with Brandt's charges of cruelty and Mrs. Brandt's charges of infidelity, was ended by Judge A. R. Cotton this morning as he approved the settlement and dismissal of Brandt's original complaint. Interlocutory decree was awarded Mrs. Brandt on an amended cross-complaint charging cruelty, in which she asked $2500 monthly maintenance.

Terms of the property settlement were not made public by attorneys for either party, but it was indicated the settlement included Mrs. Brandt's request for monthly maintenance and a previously reported settlement to her of the $75,000 family home at 1844 Floribunda Ave., Hillsborough.

Councilman Fletcher Confined to Hospital

Councilman Evans A. Fletcher of Redwood City has been confined to Mills Memorial Hospital in San Mateo where he is receiving treatment for pleurisy.

He was admitted to the hospital Friday night, and expects to be moved to his home at 1 Duane St., later this week.

Poor Henry was caught in the act of snatching the one reading-size lamp bulb to fill an empty socket in his favorite lamp. He didn't know the family had been down town stocking up on fresh new lamp bulbs. He did not know that bulb-snatching days were over and there is a plentiful supply of lamp bulbs available.

Planning Commission to Hold Litton Hearing

Frank Skillman, secretary of the County Planning Commission, today announced that a public hearing will be held on Dec. 21 at 1:30 p.m. on the application of Litton Engineering Laboratories here for four new buildings for research purposes.

Notices calling attention to the meeting have been sent to neighbors of the Litton property, Skillman said.

Skillman said that only one neighbor had protested in writing to Charles V. Litton rebuilding on the Laurel Terrace property on which the main building recently was destroyed by fire, doing a reported $250,000 worth of damage. Another protested in person, he stated.

Some of Litton's neighbors have expressed themselves as being favorable to letting Litton rebuild, according to Skillman.

The total area of the four buildings for which Litton has asked permission to build approximately the building which was destroyed by fire. The buildings would be "tucked away" in the trees and would not be as conspicuous as the former two-story building, the plans show.

Skillman said that if permission were granted for Litton to construct the buildings, the buildings would have to be in keeping with the residential character of the neighborhood.

Litton owns 18½ acres. The laboratory buildings are located near Eaton Ave., just west of Redwood City. The new buildings, according to plans, would be at least 50 feet away from neighboring property lines.

Litton has said that if too many people object to the work he is doing he will close up the research laboratories here.

The place now employs 80 persons. Litton estimated that between 20 and 40 persons will be employed in research work if the plant continues in operation.

Juvenile Home Woodside Site Not Available

New stumbling block in efforts to secure speedy action for modernization of San Mateo County's juvenile detention home arose to plague probation officials, supervisors and grand jurors Tuesday in the announcement that a preferred 14-acre site on Woodside Rd. has been "withdrawn" from official consideration.

John E. Olsen, owner and resident on the tract on Woodside and Valdez Rds., informed the board by letter Tuesday his offer to sell the tract was "hereby withdrawn" because he had "recently sold" the acreage.

First indications the withdrawal might have resulted from continued delays in deciding whether or not to purchase the property, were dispelled when Olsen informed the Tribune he wrote the letter "mainly because of my neighbors."

Olsen said he was withdrawing the offer, but that he had sold only seven of the 14 acres, to a William Delaney, whom he, Olsen, would not further identify, for a homestead.

"The other seven acres I am going to build on, myself, so I can sell the acreage around my present home," he said.

"The neighbors raised such a continual rumpus after word got around I planned to sell the property to the county for a juvenile home, that I just had to withdraw the offer."

"After all," he said ruefully, "I have to live with myself—and my neighbors." Olsen owns another six acres in the same area as the 14-acre tract. He made his original offer to the county after probation officers, headed by E. H. Cosgriff, county probation committee chairman, approved it as superior to the present cramped facilities available on the lower Broadway site in Redwood City.

Fears this development might delay the proposed introduction at the Dec. 18 meeting of supervisors of a resolution asking bids on the present home, were scouted by Cosgriff.

"I am sure," he said, "the board will go ahead with its plans to sell the present home and its site."

Cosgriff, meeting with his probation committee this afternoon, said the committee's only recourse now "is to refer the question to the county planning commission members, and have them select a substitute site."

Cosgriff said he had previously favored the suggested site at Willow and Spring Sts., east of Middlefield Rd.

"Planning commission members," he remembered, "opposed that site on grounds the territory was zoned for light industrial property, and on additional grounds it might be too low-lying for such use."

Supervisors, it was learned from an authoritative courthouse source, intend to continue plans to approve the sale resolution of the present site at the Dec. 18 meeting, although a three-week delay in asking bids may result as a means of ascertaining, informally, just what interests might wish to purchase the present home and its acreage.

One source told the Tribune he was "intensely surprised" at Olsen's withdrawal of his offer. "I understood he was the guiding spirit—or one of them—in the rumored syndicate of lower Broadway property owners who sought to acquire the present home site so they could erect there a hotel, and thus improve their other holdings in that part of the city."

Although insistent rumors have continued that such a syndicate exists, and has offered as much as $75,000 for the present juvenile home property, including present county agricultural offices, no authorized disclosure of such plans has yet been secured.

Grand jurors' interest in the new stumbling block was evidenced today when one member, who asked his name be withheld, said he would make it his personal responsibility to see that Glenn Smallcomb, foreman, and the juvenile sub-committee, would re-open grand jury investigations into the problem.

Hog Rancher Gets $2364 Judgment

Lawrence Bell, hog merchant, received a $2364 judgment in superior court here Tuesday against Thomas J. Callan, Colton hog ranch operator signed by Judge A. R. Schottky.

Bell's award was made on basis of testimony showing he sold 160 head of hogs to Callan, for the amount of the judgment. Payment on the sale, Bell claimed, was stopped by Callan when Callan claimed the hogs had been delivered to him in a diseased condition. The court held the sale was legitimate and the hogs had been inspected and were in good health when delivered.

Open County Investigation Of Cline Case

San Mateo County officials watched developments in the case of Alfred L. Cline, under investigation in San Francisco in connection with six sudden deaths and possibility of a seventh such death, as Coroner William F. Crosby Monday morning secured from Superior Judge Maxwell McNutt an order to produce the ashes of the late Mrs. E. Delora Krebs Cline of San Francisco from Cypress Lawn Cemetery.

Dist. Atty. Gilbert Ferrell and Sheriff James J. McGrath said that while their offices had not been asked to check on rumored disappearance of a "wealthy Peninsula society woman" that they were expecting to assist San Francisco authorities should any definite information or requests come to them.

Crosby, at request of the San Francisco district attorney, secured the order from Judge McNutt Monday and turned the cremated ashes of Cline's late wife, who reportedly died in Portland, Ore., last Nov. 29, to Dr. Joseph Swin, San Francisco toxicologist, for examination.

"Some stories that the ashes were sent to Cypress Lawn for interment in an ordinary shoebox," Crosby declared, "were somewhat exaggerated. The ashes were received by Cypress Lawn from the Portland crematorium in the standard cardboard container."

Crosby said that while it was his understanding cremation ended effectively any attempt to identify whether the cremated person might have died of poison or other unnatural causes, he understood it possible that traces of a "metallic poison" might remain even in ashes after cremation at a temperature of 2000 degrees Fahrenheit or higher.

Cline, whose investigation by San Francisco began during the week-end as he was rumoredly linked to the disappearance there of Mrs. Isabelle Van Natta, a wealthy widow who left her O'Farrell St. apartment in Cline's company last Nov. 15, was represented today by Jake Ehrlich, well-known San Francisco attorney. Ehrlich said he would secure Cline's release by nightfall unless San Francisco police can charge him with some felony count.

Cline assertedly had in his possession a notebook which indicated that deaths of various wealthy women throughout the country might have somehow involved him. A one-time choir singer and former Folsom prison convict, has been linked by police in San Francisco, they claim, to the women's sudden deaths.

Three of the women were said to have been his former wives. Cline was taken into custody Saturday on forgery suspicion charges. The more serious developments were announced by the police after discovery of the notebook listing the names of the several women, and the discovery of his alleged connection with Mrs. Van Natta.

Steals Bus; Leaves Same Stuck in Mud

An unidentified man who, after an hour and a half attempt, realized the stolen bus he was driving could not be freed from the mud without help, Monday walked away from a San Francisco-owned bus and left California Highway Patrol officers to unravel the mystery.

Harold Shook, Half Moon Bay resident, called patrolmen when he was awakened at 3 a.m. Monday by the gunning of the bus' engine.

He found a drunken man attempting to free the vehicle from the quagmire so that he could continue on toward the beach—so he told Shook.

During his attempts to move the bogged down bus, the driver sobered up sufficiently to leave the scene, patrolmen surmised.

In the meantime, San Francisco police were awaiting its return.

Aged Man Found Dead In Bed in R.C. Home

Marshall J. Brydges, about 80, was found dead in bed at his home, 156 Opal St., by neighbors Tuesday morning, Dep. Coroner John E. Layng reported.

Although Mr. Brydges was believed to have died of natural causes Redwood City police were investigating. His body is at Layng & Finney Funeral Home.

Crashes on Way To Get License

A 16-year-old Sequoia High School student who was driving to a California Highway Patrol office to obtain a driver's license, Monday morning missed a turn on the Los Trancos Rd. and crashed her car through a guardrail to land upside down in Los Trancos Creek.

The girl, Josie May Roman of Ramona Rd., Los Trancos, and her father, Michael T. Roman, 67, who is employed at Dibble General Hospital, suffered injuries in the crash, patrolmen said.

The mother and a fourth passenger, unidentified by CHP officers, escaped injury. Patrolmen said the occupants of the car were fortunate in that only a few inches of water was in the creek.

The accident occurred just east of Portola Rd. at 7:30 a.m.

Continue Weaver Case Until Next Week

Petition of William Weaver, San Bruno, on parole after conviction on manslaughter charges, for a certificate of pardon and rehabilitation was continued one week by Superior Judge Maxwell McNutt Monday. Continuance was asked by Dep. Dist. Atty. A. F. Whitmore at request of the petitioner. Weaver, who was paroled in 1938, once previously asked for a pardon, in 1942. The petition, at that time, was dismissed at his own request.
